

Snapshots

Come Here Often?

Question:

Are you currently dating or still interested in dating?

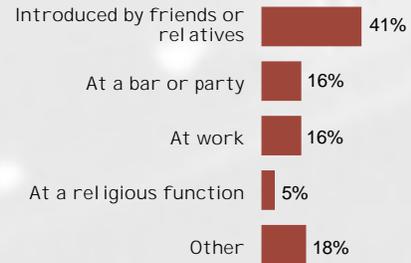

Note: Asked of those not married.

Source: Survey by Harris Interactive/Time/CNN, May 22-23, 2002.

Question:

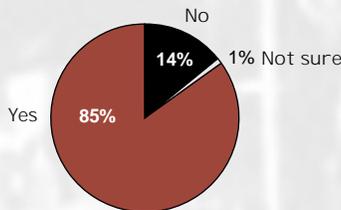

Which of the following best describes how you met the person you are currently dating or the last person you dated—you were introduced by friends or relatives, at a bar or party, at work, [or] at a religious function?

Source: Survey by Harris Interactive/Time/CNN, May 22-23, 2002.

Question:

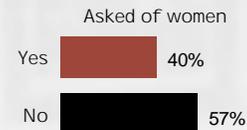

Generally speaking, do you think it's okay for women to ask men out on dates, or not?

Source: Survey by the TechnoMetrica Institute of Policy and Politics/Investor's Business Daily/Christian Science Monitor, February 5-9, 2002.

Questions:

Have you ever asked a man out on a date, or not?

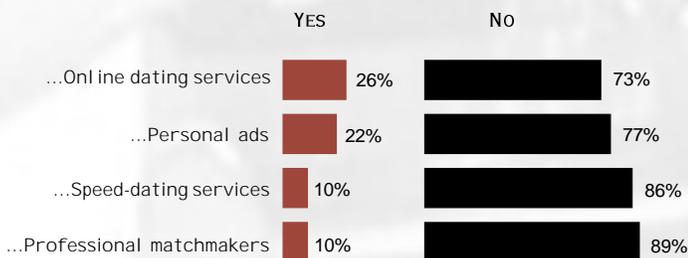

Has a woman ever asked you out on a date or not?

Source: Survey by the TechnoMetrica Institute of Policy and Politics/Investor's Business Daily/Christian Science Monitor, February 5-9, 2002.

Questions:

Have you, or has anyone you know, tried to meet people through each of the following?...

Source: Survey by Harris Interactive/Time/CNN, May 22-23, 2002.

Hi! What's Your Party?

Question:

When you date, do you generally date people who support the same political party you do, support another party, or doesn't politics come up in your dating?

Note: Asked of registered voters who are not currently married.

Source: Survey by Opinion Dynamics/Fox News, February 7-8, 2001.